PETER WAGSTAFF

Peter Wagstaff lectures Marketing at Monash University's Faculty of Business and Economics. He is responsible for one of the Faculty's largest units, Marketing Theory and Practice. His approach to teaching has been to influence, motivate and inspire his students to learn. One of his key means of achieving this is to introduce social media into his teaching - including online chatrooms and discussion forums, SMS messaging, and podcasting. His programs frequently appear in the iTunes international "Top 100" educational podcasts. In 2007 he was awarded a Federal Government Carrick Citation for "innovative use of communication technologies to effectively engage large cohorts of students and to motivate them as independent learners."

SESSION 1: 9.00 am to 11.00 am with Peter Wagstaff

THE NOW AND FUTURE IMPACT OF SOCIAL MEDIA: WHAT NEW POSSIBILITIES DO TWITTER AND FACEBOOK BRING? A STRATEGY FOR OUR SCHOOL

What is Social media? What are the growth curves? How can our school get involved? Why should our school get involved? Are we involved whether we like it or not? What will the next five years bring. What other aspects of marketing will decline? What may we de-emphasise? Why do social media allow us access to the various segments of our catchment? What are they saying? How do we listen and respond?

SESSION 2: 11.15 am to 12.30 am with Tony ConabereTHE POWER OF PEER AND PERSONAL RECOMMENDATION IN DECISION MAKING

The reach and credibility of peer and personal recommendations. The power of word-of-mouth. Whose recommendations matter? Whom do they influence? What is the power behind the choice? Trusted Information. Why are social media the new word-of-mouth vehicles? What can we do about negative word-of-mouth? Why is our society sceptical about advertising, especially school advertising? How might this scepticism be courted, even turned to your school's advantage. Resourcing the integrated communications mix: advertising, public relations, publicity, personal recommendation, testimonials and social media.

SESSION 3: 1.30 pm to 3.00 pm with Peter WagstaffWHO ARE THE SOCIAL MEDIA CONSUMERS: A TECHNOGRAPHIC PROFILE TO GIVE THE POWER TO GET STARTED.

Creators, Critics, Collectors, Joiners, Spectators, Inactives across the generations: the Older Boomers, the Younger Boomers, Gen X and Gen Y. The associated demographics. How can this information help target a campaign. Connectivity and Social capital. Getting Started: what are the first small steps? Costs and benefits of a Social media Strategy

SESSION 4: 3.15pm to 4.30pm with Geraldine Wilson and Tony ConabereSUCCESSFUL IMPLEMENTATION: KOTTER'S EIGHT CHANGE MANAGEMENT STEPS ANALYSED TO DEVELOP AN IMPLEMENTATION PLAN AT YOUR SCHOOL

Successful Change Management requires

- A strong understanding of THE URGENCY for a particular change
- A GUIDING COALITION appointed or created to lead the change process and to DEVELOP A COMPELLING VISION of what the state of play will be after the change has been successfully implemented
- A change agent to COMMUNICATE the compelling vision and to EMPOWER OTHERS to act on the Vision
- SHORT-TERM WINS generated and celebrated, so that
- GAINS OR IMPROVEMENTS are CONSOLIDATED, leading to
- CULTURAL CHANGE.

This session will develop a notional implementation plan that can then be customised for implementation at your school. The ultimate success of the strategy will depend on getting everyone's support from the Preparatory Class to the Principal.

The Master Class will have no more than twenty-four members. It offers each the opportunity to work closely with our two presenters and with other delegates on problems, challenges and future possibilities. We will reach conclusions for action, implementation or discussion with management. The Master Class will contain a breadth of experience and a rare collegiality to complement what each presenter will propose. A workbook is created and provided specifically to support the presentations. With such a diversity of expertise on the ground and in management and creative thought, each participant can extract what will matter to improve their practice. The Master class is not a conference, especially a large conference, where the opportunity to participate, discuss and enquire is limited and where listening intently seems to be the only opportunity offered. The Master class offers the opportunity to learn, to develop a "take-back" package to improve practice, and to enjoy the company of the like-minded, establishing links that will continue once the class has finished.
